Crime rate up in '94, down this year

Drugs called cause of much area crime

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

While statewide crime statistics show the number of murders, assaults, robberies and thefts, one thing it does not show is drug-related crime — and how that affects the other crime rates.

According to local police officials, drug use is responsible for many — if not most — of the area's thefts, burglaries and prostitution charges.

Officials in Granite City and Madison also said increased staffing this year will probably have a positive effect on crime rates.

"Granite City has a drug problem," Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen said. "I also think we're doing something about it." He pointed out the city has hired several new police officers, and has recently reintroduced a drug unit that has made a number of arrests and seizures in the past few months.

"If it wasn't for drugs, Granite City wouldn't have made any prostitution arrests last year," Ruebhausen said.

He added that all the area prostitutes have some kind of drug problem.

In Madison, Chief Steve Skoklo agreed drugs contribute to other crime categories. He said that most of the city's theft and burglary cases are drug-related.

"With drug problems you (See DRUGS, Page 6A)

New figures 'encouraging'

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Like those throughout the state, most local law enforcement agencies noted a slight increase in crime in 1994, and a slight decrease in the first part of the year.

According to "Crime in Illinois," a yearly report issued by the Illinois State Police, the overall crime rate went up in Madison County 9.7 percent from 1993 to 1994.

The crime rate was also up in Pontoon Beach, Granite City and Venice. The city of Madison showed a decrease.

The crime rate is based on the number of major crimes — murder, criminal sexual assault, robbery, aggravated assault and battery, burglary, theft, motor vehicle theft and arson — and the population. The rate is expressed in terms of number of offenses per 100,000 people.

In a press release accompanying the report, Illinois State Police Director Terry Gainer said serious crime had decreased for the first six months of 1995.

"These figures are encouraging. In seven of the eight categories of serious crime statewide, all but one saw a decrease from the year before."

State police director

"These figures are encouraging," Gainer said. "In seven of the eight categories of serious crime statewide, all but one saw a decrease from the year before."

Compared to the first six months of 1994, there has been decreases of 15 percent for murder, eight percent for criminal sexual assault, 14 percent for robbery, two percent for aggravated assault, 13 percent for burglary, eight percent for motor vehicle theft, and 13 percent for arson. Scouts look for 'recruits'

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Marines may still be looking for a few good men, but the Scouts are definitely looking for a lot of boys.

The Cahokia Mounds District of the Trails West Council of the Boy Scouts of America will hold its annual "School Night for Scouting" at area schools Thursday.

"We're looking at recruiting between 800-900 boys across the district," said Joe Schuster, senior district executive for the council.

The Cahokia Mounds District includes the southern part of Madison County — roughly everything south of Interstate 270 — and Bond County. Schuster said there are about 5,000 boys involved in the Scouts in that area.

Schuster said there is a place in Scouting for every boy from first grade on.

First graders can join Tiger Cubs, while boys in second through fifth can join Cub Scouts. Boys in sixth grade or above can join the Boy Scouts.

Schuster said Scouting focuses on the family, achievement, peer relations, crafts and games.

"Scouting is traditionally family oriented and we still teach traditional values," he said. "But boys also have a chance to learn about computers, and we also have programs for latch-key kids."

"Although the traditional stuff is there, (See SCOUTS, Page 7A)

District may revive football

Madison schools may get help from unnamed business

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

An improved financial condition and support from an unnamed business could bring football back to the Madison School District.

At Thursday's school board meeting, the board approved looking into a new football program and also approved an informational meeting with parents.

The meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 19, at the Madison Middle School.

Board member Donald Turner said Friday that a Fairview Heights man has approached the district about restarting the program.

Football was eliminated in Madison during the 1992-1993 school year because of financial problems.

The school has been on the Illinois State Board of Education's financial watch list for the past few years. However, the district's financial picture has improved, and it finished the 1994-1995 school year in the black.

Surpluses are expected in the next few years, officials say. Turner said if everything works out, some kind of a football program would be started in the middle school next year, and a junior varsity program would start the following year.

"We'll start in the middle school, and if things go well in the 1996-1997 school year we can start a JV program," he said.

Turner said the district had to start somewhere. "Right now it would be hard to start a varsity program," he said.

Frank Watson, the Fairview Heights man who came to the district with the proposal, said a local business is considering underwriting the football program.

Watson declined to name the business at this time, saying he did not want to "sell their thunder."

"They're very interested in developing what is one of the most vital resources: our youths," Watson said.

Clinic protester faces U.S. charge

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Correspondent

A north Kansas City woman who demonstrated at The Hope Clinic for Women in Granite City last month may have defied a court order and could go to prison on a contempt charge.

Regina Dinwiddie faces a six-month prison term and $500 fine for allegedly violating a permanent injunction by protesting at The Hope Clinic Aug. 4-5.

Terms of a permanent, federal injunction allow Dinwiddie to protest, but not within 500 feet of a clinic entrance and not with a bullhorn.

According to police reports, Dinwiddie may have violated those terms Aug. 5.

"The clinic people have better intelligence than we do," Granite City Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen said. "They went down the line (of protesters) ... They knew them all."

Ruebhausen said Dinwiddie used a bullhorn during the protest and was on a sidewalk adjacent to the building.

"The people from the clinic presented us with a federal court order and they pointed out some sections they felt Dinwiddie was in violation of. We chose to handle it by making a police report ... which we forwarded to the U.S. Marshal's Office," Ruebhausen said.

Police informed Dinwiddie that her actions appeared to violate the order, but did not arrest her at the time of the incident.

"She ceased to use the bullhorn and (See PROTESTER, Page 2A)

Breast cancer survivor ready for benefit walk

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

Megan Kurek of Belleville will participate in the Oct. 1 St. Louis Walks for Women at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows. And she thanks God every night that she can.

Kurek, who was diagnosed in July 1992 with breast cancer, said battling the often-fatal disease has made her even more concerned about her physical health. Although she was active before, the 37-year-old mother of one now swims at least a mile a day and walks with a neighbor.

"I just think the exercise is good for us physically and mentally, too," she said from the flower-covered patio of her home.

Kurek comes from a large family and was surprised when she learned that a lump in her breast was cancerous. She had recently stopped nursing her 13-month-old daughter when she found the lump; she waited two months before seeking medical help.

"It was the furthest thing from my mind. I thought it was a calcium deposit," she said. "I was very cool and positive during all the tests until I found out (it was cancer)."

At St. Louis University Hospital, Kurek underwent three months of chemotherapy, a mastectomy and two bone marrow transplants from cells taken from her own body and treated. She also underwent a round of radiation when the disease recurred on scar tissue from surgery in early 1992.

Since that time, Kurek has been cancer free. She credits her family, especially her husband, Gary, with support she got during the ordeal. Gary walked with her at every treatment and spent every night with her in the hospital.

"I really needed that support," she said. "I've met a lot of friends through this, but hopefully, no one will have to go through what I did to get them. Support from friends and family really helped."

Because she is more active, Kurek said she did not hesitate to join in the St. Louis Walks for Women when asked by a friend. The fund-raiser will assist the non-profit American Medical Center (AMC) Cancer Research Center with the study and treatment of cancer.

The walk (either one or five miles) will kick off at 1 p.m. Oct. 1 at the Shrine when registration at 11:30 a.m. Kurek said the Shrine is a great setting for the walk. She walks there often and especially enjoys the Lourdes reproduction from France which she saw last year.

"It's where I go to meditate," she said.

Walk participants are asked to seek sponsors for each mile they walk and prizes will be awarded. For more information about the walk, call the St. Louis AMC affiliate at 569-0500.

Last suspect in drug sting arrested

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The last suspect in a drug sting operation by Madison police last year has been arrested.

Christopher Gardner, 25, of the 1500 block of Second Street, Madison, was arrested last week in the 1400 block of Third Street. He was released after posting bond.

Gardner had been charged in a suppressed indictment with one count of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance (cocaine). At the time of his arrest, he also had two outstanding warrants — failure to appear on a criminal trespassing charge by Madison police, and failure to appear on operating an uninsured motor vehicle by the Illinois State Police.

Gardner had been indicted by a Madison County grand jury in December following an undercover operation by Madison and Venice police departments in October.

Approximately 30 people were charged. All but one — who died of a drug overdose before he could be picked up — have been arrested.

Madison Detective Neal Mize said police had waited to arrest Gardner because he had been the victim of a bar room shooting and had not been expected to live.

On May 6, Gardner and another Madison man were seriously injured when a man entered the Robins' Nest Lounge in Venice and began shooting at them. A third victim was an innocent bystander who was shot in the leg.

Selph is named to SILEC board

Ron Selph has spent more than 20 years in law enforcement.

So it was natural that Madison County Board Chairman Nellie Hagauer would appoint Selph to the board of directors of the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission last week.

"There was an opening and he showed some interest," Hagauer said of Selph. "He's been in law enforcement and I'm sure he'll do a fine job."

SILEC is the agency that conducts most career development training courses for law enforcement officers, corrections officers and coroners in a seven-county region.

"I'm honored to have been selected the large community representative," Selph said.

"I'm delighted (at Selph's appointment)," said SILEC Director Skip Bennett. "He's a former college student of mine."

Bennett said that Selph has participated in SILEC-sponsored training both as a student and a teacher.

remained in compliance from that point on," Ruebhausen said.

Dinwiddie violated the same federal injunction March 25. The U.S. District Court in Kansas City found her guilty of civil contempt and ordered her to pay damages involving a protest outside Planned Parenthood of Greater Kansas City.

The latest petition, filed Sept. 1 in federal court, reports that Dinwiddie stated she would not pay damages to Planned Parenthood. She made the statements publicly, including in a Kansas City newspaper.

Dinwiddie's refusal to pay and the alleged new violation are behind the latest action against her by U.S. Attorney Steven Hill's office.

"The United States believes that proceeding with this petition for criminal contempt is necessary if the authority of this court's legal orders is to be upheld in the petition states."

Dinwiddie owes $4,740 in compensatory damages to various parties, "including three Planned Parenthood employees or volunteers who were unlawfully stalked, harassed and threatened," according to the petition.

Dinwiddie could not be reached for comment. She has said the Planned Parenthood charges were overblown.

The injunction to limit Dinwiddie's protest is the first of its type issued under the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act of 1994. Congress

Prostate screening to be offered Saturday

A prostate screening for men over the age of 50 will be held Saturday, Sept. 16, at the Collinsville Medical Center off-site facilities:

From 9 a.m. to noon at the Collinsville Health Center, 800 St. Louis Rd. in Collinsville.

From 1 to 4 p.m. at the Edwardsville Health Center, Physicians Building, 1123 University Dr. in Edwardsville.

The screenings are $5. Registration is required. To register for either location, call SEMC's Training and Development Department at 798-3201.

According to information from the Prostate Cancer Education Council, 300,000 men developed prostate cancer in 1994, with a majority being African-American men. They estimated 38,000 men would die of the cancer. Both numbers are a significant increase over past figures.

Screening exams can detect the cancer in its early, curable stages.

"We are pleased to be able to offer a Prostate Specific Antigen (PSA) blood test as part of our screening," said screening coordinator Sue Watkins, RN, BSN, CCRN, community education coordinator at SEMC's Training and Development Department. "This test is able to aid us in the early detection of prostate cancer."

approved the law in reaction to the deaths of doctors and others who work at pro-choice clinics.

Protests at The Hope Clinic — major or minor — are a regular occurrence, Ruebhausen said.

"We have special orders and periodically make assignments to make sure the peace is upheld down there. We have weekly protests whether they're major or minor," he said.

Police have closely monitored the clinic since a member of the radical pro-life group, Army of God, fire-bombed the building in the late 1970s.

Jack Ventimiglia was editor of the Granite City Press-Record from 1964 to 1988. He is now assistant editor for the Townsend Communications Group in northern Kansas City.

Woolly worms herald an early fall

Virginia Britt is certain that fall is on the way after she spotted brown woolly worms crossing a road.

"The woolly worms are out looking for food, and that's a sign of an early autumn," said the 72-year-old Britt, who has watched the change of seasons all her life in the Grafton hills.

Britt's forecast fit right in with the cool Canadian air that descended on the area, bringing overnight lows into the 50s.

Greg Lewis of the National Weather Service in St. Louis said it had been 84 days since the area had seen temperatures that low.

The jet stream swung down toward the southern United States Thursday, pulling cool air out of the north across the River Bend, Lewis said.

Although the ground remained dry through late August, moisture this year stood at 25 inches through Monday, 9 inches above normal, Lewis said.

And the days are getting shorter this month, he said. "We're seeing about 13 hours of sunlight compared to 14 to 15 hours in early August."

Ida Watson was getting ready for visitors at her roadside market on Illinois 100, west of Grafton. She set up a fall display of butternut and crooked-neck squash, apples and peaches.

"Much of our fall produce ripened early in the hot August weather," she said. "We'll have pumpkins in a few days. We'll display our colorful chrysanthemums on bales of straw to give them an autumn look."

Britt sorted Granny Smith apples at Watson's market and chatted about the signs of fall she has seen in the bluffs above Grafton.

"I've been keeping an eye on the woods ... fall is coming. The yellow finches are leaving the hills and staying around my yard. I feed them all winter."

Britt strolls through the woods to look for autumn bittersweet, plants with bright orange berries used for home decorations.

"If you look close in the woods, you can already see a little tint of yellow in the leaves of the maple trees," she said.

Late-Summer Tips from the experts at

FRANK'S®

When the time rolls around to harvest tomatoes, doesn't it always seem like there's an abundance of green ones? There are too many of 'em to ignore. And it's a shame to let them all go to waste. So what's the gardener to do? Start harvesting!

Green tomatoes that are glossy and about three quarters of their full size are called mature green tomatoes. Slice open one of them. The gel in the seed cavity is thick and seeds slide easily off the knife.

Tomatoes picked at this stage will ripen indoors. The smaller, immature ones won't, though, and will rot if kept for any length of time.

Green tomatoes bruise easily, so harvest them very carefully. Store mature green tomatoes in a single layer at 55° to 70° F, and away from a source of bright light.

Tomatoes stored at 55° F take longer to ripen than those stored at higher temperatures. Some people want to speed up the ripening process, and it can be done by manipulating the storage temperature. That way you have control of the period of time it takes for them to ripen. While others will have to settle for the store-bought tomatoes, you'll be able to feast on ripe, garden-fresh ones.

Now that we're on the subject, do you know exactly what a tomato is, fruit or vegetable? It's considered a fruit, but most people use them as vegetables. According to the dictionary, it could also be called a berry. So take your pick.

Back to the green ones. If you have more of them than there is available storage space for, don't despair. You don't have to throw them away. Green tomatoes can be used in several recipes. Try making green tomato jam or relish. You can also make piccalilli, pan-fried tomatoes, and tomato-flavored breads. A copy of Ortho's 'All About Tomatoes' will have these and other tomato recipes. If you're not into recipes, the option of giving the extra tomatoes to family and friends always remains open!

If you haven't fed your lawn yet, don't wait too much longer. The fall feeding is very important. Frank's Fall Lawn Fertilizer helps your lawn endure the coming winter, plus gives it a strong start when spring rolls around.

If broadleaf weeds are actively growing, treat them with a weed killer. Frank's carries several varieties. By getting rid of weeds now, you'll let your lawn have the time to fill in the bare spots left by the dead weeds.

This is also the best time of year to control dandelions and other perennial weeds. You may not see them now, but they're busy storing up energy for the winter. If you don't get 'em now, they'll most certainly be dotting your landscape next spring.

It's getting to be that time when you'll have to think about your houseplants. The ones outside, that is.

Houseplants should be re-acclimated to the conditions inside your home gradually, increasing the time they're inside, from an hour to a full day. Spray them for pests, also.

Now's a great time to plant trees, shrubs and evergreens, for two reasons. It's the best time of the year for it, and they're all on sale at Frank's. They're fresh, top-quality plants and you're sure to find just the right ones for your landscape.

Concert will celebrate church organ

One year after a devastating fire destroyed the organ, roof and sanctuary ceiling at First Presbyterian Church, the organ has been resurrected.

A concert will be given Sunday, Sept. 17, in celebration of the rejuvenated and refurbished organ at the church, which is located at 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue in downtown Granite City. Church organist Jack Jenkins and Dan Vizer (pianist at the Old Cathedral in St. Louis) will perform Bach's Concerto in D Minor for piano and organ.

Also performing will be violinist Renae Crabtree, harpist Shannon Demmert and combined church choirs from the community.

The concert, the first of a series of five scheduled in the refurbished church, will begin at 8 p.m. No ticket is necessary.

The second concert in the series, to be held Oct. 15, will feature the "Voices of St. Alphonsus," a 40-member choir from St. Louis. Organist Ron Ebrecht will perform the fourth concert in the series April 14, 1996. The final concert will feature soprano Eric Mills, French hornist David Jolley and pianist Sarah Rothenberg May 19. Tickets for these three concerts are $12 each.

The Bach Society of St. Louis will perform the third concert of the series in February 1996. There is no charge, but a free will offering will be taken for the Bach Society.

For more information or to order tickets, call 452-1100.

percent for theft and 11 percent for auto theft.

The only major crime category to show an increase was arson, which was up seven percent.

In 1994, serious crime increased 5 percent from 1993. "This slight rise in reported crime follows two years of significant decreases in the number of serious crimes reported," Gainer said.

Most reported major crimes are burglary, theft and aggravated assault.

In Madison County, the 1994 crime rate increased to 4,793.1 from 4,570.2 per 100,000.

Crime categories showing decreases were: murder — down 35.3 percent; criminal sexual assault — down 15.9 percent; theft — down 11.8 percent; and arson — down 18.8 percent.

Categories showing an increase were robbery — up 40.4 percent; aggravated assault — up 27 percent; burglary — up 21.7 percent; and motor vehicle theft — up 24.7 percent.

In 1993, 52 robberies were reported countywide, while in 1994 73 were reported — an increase of 40.4 percent.

Granite City's crime rate increased 2.4 percent, to 5,728.8

from 5,594.6 per 100,000.

The city had one reported murder in 1994, none in 1993. Other categories showing increases were: aggravated assault — up 38.7 percent; and theft — up 9.2 percent.

Going down were criminal sexual assault — down 9.8 percent; robbery — down 42.9 percent; burglary — down 33.1 percent; motor vehicle theft — down 4.3 percent; and arson — down 34.6 percent.

"I was pleased with 1994 compared to 1993," Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen said. "Burglaries were down, robberies were down."

"We put a large amount of attention on solving burglaries," he added.

This year, Ruebhausen said, he didn't see much of a change so far.

In Pontoon Beach, the crime rate rose 43.2 percent — from 6,002.4 to 8,595.4 per 100,000.

No murders or arsons were reported for 1994. Criminal sexual assault was down 20 percent, and robbery showed a decrease of 33.3 percent.

Categories showing increases were aggravated assaults — up 66.7 percent; burglary — up 32.7 percent; theft — up 48.5 percent; and motor vehicle theft — up 58.8 percent.

Venice showed a 44.2 percent increase in crime in 1994. The rate increased to 6,248.3 from 4,332.1 per 100,000.

Two murders were reported in 1994, up from one the previous year.

Also increasing were burglary — up 89.7 percent; theft — up 65.6 percent; and motor vehicle theft — up 11.1 percent.

Categories showing decreases were criminal sexual assault — down 50 percent; robbery — down 14.3 percent; and aggravated assault — also down 14.3 percent.

So far this year, Police Chief James Bennett said things have slowed down a little.

"I think crime on the whole has dropped," he said. "Not significantly, but it has dropped."

The city of Madison showed a 23.2 percent increase, to 11,451.2 from 14,906.6 per 100,000. However, Police Chief Steve Skoklo said some of the numbers appear to be incorrect.

The state reported 33.3 percent drop in burglary — from six to four. However, department figures show 200 burglaries during 1994.

Skoklo said he was not sure how the state came up with the incorrect figures.

In other categories, the city had no murders in 1994, and one in 1993. There were no arsons reported in either year. Criminal sexual assault was steady at five each year, while robbery and aggravated assault showed increases of 12.1 and 30.8 percent respectively.

Decreasing were theft down 28.1 percent, and motor vehicle theft down 15 percent. Records show a slight decrease in crime in the first part of the year.

"I think we have an excellent police department," Skoklo said. "We've been busting our butts this summer."

•Drugs

have more theft and burglary," he said. Both Madison and Granite City are adding officers to their departments.

Ruebhausen said he was also planning to continue pressuring drug dealers and gang members.

"If they're going to be standing on a street corner, they are going to be standing with a police officer," he said.

September Fiesta this weekend

The Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City will celebrate its annual September Fiesta Sept. 16 with food, drinks and music.

The celebration is a recognition of Mexican heritage. In 1801, the Criollos in what is now Mexico were stirred by the recent, successful Revolutionary War in the American colonies. On Sept. 16, 1810, Father Miguel Hidalgo, a Criollo priest, struck the first blow. With an ill-equipped army of 50,000, he marched toward the capital but was stopped by forces loyal to the Spanish crown.

Father Hidalgo and some of the Criollos escaped to Guadalajara, but he was captured, tried, stripped of his priestly office and shot to death in July 1811.

His severed head was placed on public view as a warning to any others who may have been thinking about challenging the king's authority.

Eleven years passed before independence was achieved. At that time, another priest, Father Jose Maria Morales, was fighting for freedom from Spanish rule, for racial equality and distribution of privately-owned lands to peasants.

In 1824, Mexico was finally proclaimed an independent republic and adopted a constitution patterned after that in the United States.

The Mexican people who settled in Granite City are proud of their heritage and never fail to remember what their forefathers lost their lives for. The Mexican Honorary Commission invites the public to join them in the Sept. 16 celebration at 1801 Spruce Street.

A program by club members will start at 7 p.m. Ethnic food and drinks will be available. A Latino band will play dance music after the program concludes.

New support group plans meetings

Helping and Healing is a new support group for care givers and family members of persons with terminal illnesses, available through Patient Care Coordination at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

The group meets from 5:30 to 7 p.m. the first and third Tuesday of each month, in the Schoenbeck Room, on the first floor of SEMC, 2100 Madison Ave. in Granite City.

SEMC social workers will provide both education and support for care givers in a variety of ways. They inform families about services available to them and often refer them to community agencies for additional assistance.

Melba Boyd, M.S.W., and social worker for the Hospice of Madison County, is the group facilitator.

"We need a program like this," Boyd said. "Care givers have a lot of questions, such as: 'Am I doing the right thing?' 'Am I saying the right thing?'"

By sharing experiences, care givers learn what to expect and ways to manage difficult times. By hearing about each other's experiences, participants have the opportunity to see they have similar experiences.

The dying person's problems come to an end, but the family's problems continue. Many of these problems can be alleviated by discussing them before the person dies.

"One of the most important aspects of coping is for family members to know they are not alone," Boyd said.

For more information on the Helping and Healing support group, call the SEMC Patient Care Coordination Department at 798-3018.

Watson became involved because of his friendship with Madison coach Marcus Spraggins, who he described as "an old high school buddy of mine."

Turner said Watson is scheduled to address the school board at the Sept. 21 meeting.

VoellingerSalukis striving for

While paging through the NCAA football record and schedule book for 1995, I found a change in the schedule portion where homecoming dates no longer are listed.

For whatever reason, the NCAA lists the '95 schedule and '94 results with other pertinent information like the coach's career record, but that asterisk that indicated homecoming has been eliminated.

Thus, this corner reminds you of the following homecomings related to football: Southwest Missouri State at Southern Illinois-Carbondale, Oct. 14; Oklahoma State at Missouri, Oct. 21; and Northwestern at Illinois, Oct. 28.

LOOKS LIKE A fan could have three consecutive weekends of fun on the collegiate level, and while I realize there are other schools within a three-hour drive of the Southwestern Illinois area where homecoming also will be observed, of the three noted, I'm pulling for the Salukis.

You know how hard football has been at SIUC? Since 1983, the Salukis have had one winning season (7-4 in 1991). Last season they were 1-10, one win less than a 2-9 finish in '93. In '94 — the first for head coach Shawn Watson — SIUC was in double-figure scoring in eight of 11 games but was outscored 351-156.

You know how bad that is? In '83, when the Salukis went 13-1 and won the NCAA Division I-AA championship, they scored 89 points in three playoff games. That's more points than SIUC scored in its final six games of '94, when the team tallied 48 points, including 19 in its only win — a 10-7 triumph over Western Kentucky.

MAYBE THAT'S WHY I look to this season's homecoming for the Salukis. A year ago they lost 33-27 at Southwest and even though SIUC has not beaten the Bears since 1986, the six-point loss and SIUC's 4-7 record in '94 give hope for this season.

FOOTNOTES: According to the NCAA, if Illinois advances to a bowl game, the appearance will make coach Lou Tepper the Illini leader with four.

Mike White and John Mackovic each made three appearances although none was as dramatic as the 1947 Rose Bowl game for coach Ray Eliot, who upset unbeaten UCLA, 45-14.

The last bowl game for Mizou was a 21-17 loss to Brigham Young in the 1983 Holiday Bowl. The postseason game for coach Warren Powers was his fifth — one less than the school mark of six set by Dan Devine.

MISSOURI IS LISTED as having six consensus All-Americans, including Johnny Roland ('85), Roger Wehrli ('85), Kellen Winslow ('78) and John Clay ('86). Illinois is credited with 17 All-Americans, including Red Grange in 1925-26, Dick Butkus ('63-64), David Williams ('84-85), Moe Gardner ('89-90) and Dana Howard ('94).

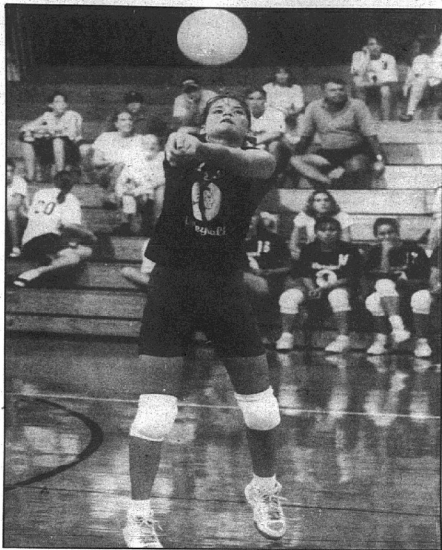

On the college division level, Millikin had two All-Americans, both from Belleville — Virgil Wagner, a halfback (1942), and Mike Hall, a kick returner (1992).

EXTRA INNINGS: One of the joys of the past summer was visiting with Charlie Jarvis in St. Petersburg, Fla.

An outstanding catcher at Freeburg High where he graduated in 1983, Jarvis played collegiately at Belleville Area College, McKeesport and Missouri Baptist, where he earned All-America recognition. Jarvis, now 30, is a catcher-first baseman for a men's team in Florida. He continues to hit over .400 in the Stan Musial League, where former major league pitcher Dwight Gooden played outfield this summer.

Suspended from the majors because of drug use, Gooden was rumored to be headed for the Chicago White Sox in '96.

Warriors spike three, hungry for more

The Warriors' Jennifer Willis. Against Highland on Sept. 1, Willis was solid at the net with seven kills, eight block assists and five solo blocks.

Opening the season with an exciting two-game match victory over Civic Memorial on Aug. 31 wasn't enough to satisfy the hungry Warrior spikers. They traveled to Highland and Edwardsville to capture two more wins for a perfect 3-0 record heading into Tuesday's game at Belleville East.

Jennifer Willis and Denise McMillan led the attack against a feisty Highland squad on Sept. 1. Willis was solid at the net with seven kills, eight block assists and five solo blocks. She also worked on fine-tuning her defense in the back row as she picked up eight digs. McMillan also had a good game at the net, with five kills and three solo blocks. Her setting was consistent as usual, as she accumulated 17 assists on the night.

Sophomore Jenna Wright contributed to the GCHS cause, with six service points and two service aces. But it was senior Tara Wiesbusch that was by far the best server in the match. She served 13 points with five aces.

Highland was frustrated by her serve, and they were unable to run much of an offensive attack off of their serve-receive," said Warriors coach Cindy Gachig.

The scores at Highland were 15-13 and 15-12.

On Sept. 6 at Edwardsville, the Warriors were looking for their first win — on the court — against the Lady Tigers in Gachig's five years at the GC helm.

Granite City picked up a forfeit win over Edwardsville last season, due to the teachers' strike. But this time, the task would be much more difficult, and the packed Edwardsville gym wouldn't help matters. (See WARRIORS, Page 2B)

Fall Classic: Red Bud main challenge

The ball gets bouncing for real this weekend, as six area teams will vie for the title of the second Granite City Fall Classic Invitational volleyball tournament.

The tourney gets off to a fast start this Friday, when the host Warriors go up against Civic Memorial at 6 p.m. Games will be played through Saturday afternoon, and will be held in the main gym and the small gym at GCHS.

The teams who will play in the tournament, besides the host, include last year's champion, Red Bud, and Freeburg, Jerseyville, O'Fallon, and CM.

The tournament will be a six-team, round-robin format; and matches will be best two out of three, with rally scoring used for the third game. Awards will be given to the champion and second-place finishers. An all-tourney team (six plus MVP) will be selected after the conclusion of the tourney.

Kahoks win tight Golf Scramble

By Rob Raphael

Staff writer

The team of Tyson Brill and Marco Tallierico fired an 8-under par 64 on Saturday to win the A-Flight of the 20th Annual Granite City Scramble, played at Arlington Golf Club.

The teammates, who are Collinsville Kahoks, shot a tremendous 31 on the Arlington front nine to help them win the main flight at the 2-man scramble-format tourney.

However, the Collinsville succeeded didn't end there. In the B-Flight, Brian Lorenz and Greg Albertina combined to fire a 67 to take first place in that flight.

Add in a 69 by the C-Flight team of Andy McFall and Nathan Shiver, and it's easy to see why Collinsville won the team championship Saturday with a 202, just a single shot better than Mascoutah.

Mascoutah got a 68 (2nd place) from B-Flight teammates Toby Lindsay and Andy Kniffin; a 66 (1st place) from the C-Flight team of Chris Smith and Matt Hall; and a 69 from A-Flight mates Jason Florek and Jash Phillips to score their total of 203.

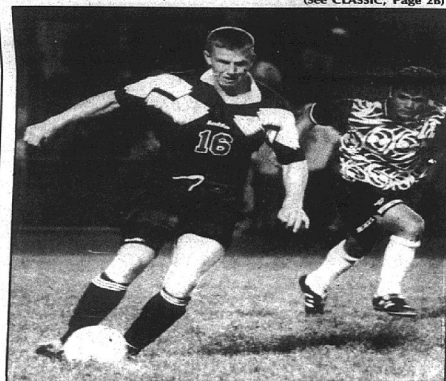

Finishing in third was Salem with a team score of 210, and Belleville East placed fourth at 211. Rounding out the team scoring in a very tight tourney was O'Fallon (212), Granite City (214), Mt. Vernon (215), Edwardsville (219), Alton (221), Roxana (225), Jerseyville (229), Centralia (238) and Wood River (270).

"I can't remember when the scores were so low and so even," said tournament director and Granite City coach Boone Chaney. "Coming in from the last flight, we had no idea where this team or that team was going to finish until we added everything up and double checked it."

The host Warriors got a 68 from Pat Schuman and David Martin, good enough for fifth place in the A-Flight. Granite City's team of Tim Harris and Dan Ray shot a combined 70 to take fourth-place honors in the B-Flight; and Pat Logan, (See GOLF, Page 2B)

Warriors record
improves to 2-1

By Rob Raphael

The soccer Warriors improved to 2-1 in the Southwestern Conference with a 2-0 win over Belleville West in a game played Saturday at the Gaunt-

The Warriors now have conference wins against Alton and West, and only the tough 1-0 loss at Collinsville last week in their conference log.

Granite City coach Gene Baker said he was happy with the result Saturday, and he pointed to his team's defensive work as a positive.

"We got great work again from Brian Lloyd, who has been very consistent for us all year with his defense," he said. "His leadership has been valuable, as well."

Offensively, the Warriors got a penalty kick goal from Justin Bernaux after Steve Logan was tripped up in the penalty area.

All three of Bernaux's goals this year have come from the penalty spot. This one was a thing of beauty, as Bernaux sent a line drive high into the right corner of the net.

The other Warrior goal came from a pair of sophomores. Cor-

Four winners fire up Tri-City 'Night of Champions'

By Steve Birmingham

Correspondent

New winners sparked the Champion Spark Plug "Night of Champions" Saturday as Tri-City Speedway crowned four season champions.

Mike Baggett scored his first career Budweiser Grand American Modified feature win on the half-mile by out-performing John Seets and Troy Walker. Rookie modified driver Wayne Downing looked to be the odds-on favorite as he led the first 10 laps by 30 car-lengths over Baggett and Seets.

But a blown motor on lap 10 put Downing on the trailer and Baggett in the lead.

Terry Chester won his first Red Dog Pro Stock main of 1995, besting Steve Grotz and Pat Ryan by just 100 feet at the flag. Ryan did yeoman's work as he battled back from a mid-race spin to finish third. Rounding out the top five were Mark Freeman and Tom Ogden.

The Warriors' Dennis Holland drives in against Vianney recently.

ey Wallace sent a cross to Josh Hickam, and he converted for his first goal of the season.

"It was a stable game, although West is aggressive and they have good athletes. But we handled things well in our own end, although I would still like to see us score some more."

As has been the trend since a 4-1 win over Alton two weeks ago, the Warriors have struggled to finish their plays. Even in that game, it was the Warrior substitutes who provided the scoring punch.

But Baker said his team has plenty of time to peak, although this week's opponents offer no respite.

Belleville East, who are enjoying an improved season, and CBC, the top-ranked soccer school in the metro-St. Louis area, are the two foes in Granite City's near future. Neither game will be easy for the Warriors.

"East has a pretty good club this year," said Baker. "They're going to be a factor in the conference race this year." But the real test will be against CBC. The Cadets gave Collinsville their only loss of the season, a 3-0 pasting two weeks ago.

"They are real strong, as usual," said Baker. "This year they could be stronger than Vianney."

CBC and Vianney played in the finals of the CBC Tournament last weekend, and the Cadets proved they are No. 1 by crushing past Vianney 3-0. Baker said his team still has work to do, but he believed they would be better by the end of the year.

"We'll have to make our own breaks, and hopefully we can get Jeff (Hayes) worked back into the lineup. We'll be a better club by the end of the year."

Lively Taste

If a little Cajun takes you home, try this homemade seasoning as a rub on pork, seafood or other meat. Combine 2 tablespoons paprika, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons onion powder, 2 teaspoons garlic powder, 2 teaspoons red pepper, 1-1/2 teaspoons white pepper, 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, 1 teaspoon leaf thyme and 1 teaspoon leaf oregano.

Health & Fitness

Medicine Chest

Salt can be responsible for the body retaining water. Watch for hidden salt in drug products, over-the-counter products, canned and processed foods. Salt can be replaced with appropriate spices, so the body does not retain water.

Kids' Cuisine

Here is a twist on traditional cereal breakfast. Try mixing cereals. Average out a sugar-packed brand with a handful of parent-preferred puffed rice or wheat, cornflakes or raisin bran.

Big Fat Tip

Build a cheeseburger with extra-lean ground beef or ground turkey breast, fat-free cheese, sliced tomato and sprouts and serve on a whole-wheat bun. To decrease sodium, eliminate relish and dress the burger with lower-sodium ketchup. This delivers about half the cholesterol and one-sixth the fat of a cheeseburger made with regular ground beef and full-fat cheese.

Future Shop

Dinner from the deli at the supermarket can be custom-made. For instance, a pajar could summon waiting customers from other parts of the store when a prepared deli meal is ready for on-premise or at-home consumption. Grocery carts also could contain self-scanning mechanisms so a shopper can add up the cost of a meal before getting into the check-out line and risking a dinner cool-down.

Fill 'er up!

Eating is fun. The only thing wrong is that most people cannot eat as much food as they would like.

Is there an answer to the dilemma?

Of course, when fruits and vegetables help fill the human tank. They keep it from running out of gas, too.

This week is National 5-a-Day Week, a promotion for developing a healthy, friendly relationship between a person's appetite and colorful, flavorful fruits and vegetables.

An average of five servings a day is not difficult.

A salad—1 cup of a leafy vegetable, 1/2 cup cut-up tomato and 1/2 cup cut-up cauliflower, broccoli or cucumber—holds three servings by itself. Add a banana for breakfast and just a medium (1/2 cup) helping of green beans at dinner and the total adds up to the goal.

Three-fourths cup 100 percent fruit or vegetable juice or 1/2 cup cut-up fruit counts for a serving as well. Fruits and vegetables can be dried, canned, fresh or frozen. The more the merrier, because variety is fruitful by spreading healthful components around.

A good way to ensure eating more fruits and vegetables is to find a pal interested in the project. While one splurges on split pea soup, the other may have an eye on a baked potato. A wedge of cantaloupe may make one's afternoon flow, while another only revels in fruit on cereal, with pudding or for dessert.

One way to be sure to eat more is to have it available. Keep supplies at eye level as a reminder to the person ready to "grab" a bite.

Now is the time to start eating more — fruits and vegetables, that is. A "sneaky" way of adding it is to fit it in as a component of another dish.

Start with that autumn favorite, apples. Add them to fruit salad, grate one into slaw or muffin batter, share one with a friend. Here an apple adds sweetness to rice pilaf flavored with curry, parsley or cilantro, and onion.

For a quick treat, saute wedges in a few teaspoons oil, adding juice or cider, plus raisins and cinnamon-sugar as the apple starts to soften. Add slices to instant pudding as well.

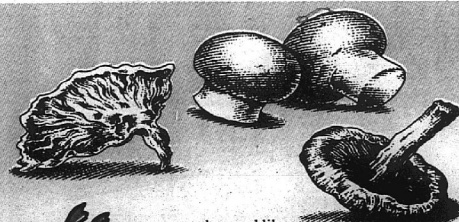

Croutons are not the only way to add bread to salad. Put it under the salad to use as a "boat" for floating a flavorful Caesar-style salad.

Fried rice becomes a meal on its own when prepared

Mushrooms are a bonanza of a vegetable. Five medium white mushrooms have only 20 calories, and are fat-, cholesterol- and sodium-free. They have as much riboflavin as a cup of milk and as much fiber as a tomato or 1/6 of a medium head of lettuce.

Each variety adds its own touch. Regular white mushrooms have a smooth round cap and short stem. Similarly-shaped crimini (krim-EE-nee) are colored tan or rich brown. Fluted and graceful oyster mushrooms (left) can be used like white or crimini mushrooms. Shiitake (she-TOCK-ee) mushrooms (right) have broad, umbrella-shaped caps and are best cooked. Tendrils with bulbs at the end of enoki (ee-NO-kee) grow in clusters that join at the base. They usually are eaten raw in salad or as garnish. Portabella (port-uh-BELL-uh) caps can measure up to 6 inches. They are served whole or sliced; grilled, baked or deep-fried; stuffed, as a side dish or in stir-fry or sauces.

Graceful pears sparkle with quick dinner

Think of the pear. The mind employs an image of grace and sophistication formed by voluptuous contours. The pear reigns as one of the world's most alluring fruits.

Fresh pears provide a variety of nutrients, including vitamins and minerals, no cholesterol or sodium and are virtually fat-free. Three medium pears equals one pound. The yield from that amount is 2½ cups sliced, 2½ cups diced or 1¾ cups pureed.

Pears come from a microwave oven quicker after using less energy than from conventional cooking.

To microwave poached pears, combine ½ cup water, 1 cup sugar and 1 sliced lemon in a 2-quart microwave-safe casserole dish. Microwave, covered, on high power 3 minutes or until mixture boils. Peel 6 fresh pears, leaving stems intact.

Arrange the pears in a casserole, leaving one in the center. Baste with sauce. Microwave, covered, on high power 7 minutes or until fork-tender. Cover and refrigerate until serving.

Certified home economist Barb Gray specializes in microwave cooking.

THREE-WAY POACHED PEARS WITH 3 SAUCES

- 4 firm-ripe pears
- 2 cups water
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 stick (4 inches) cinnamon
- 2 whole cloves
- Orange or Strawberry Sauce
- Orange peel curls or strawberries for garnish
- Chocolate Sauce

Peel pears, using potato peeler. Place in 1½-quart microwave-safe bowl with water, lemon juice, cinnamon and cloves. Cover with plastic wrap, venting one corner. Microwave on high power 4 minutes. Turn bowl. Microwave on high 3 minutes longer.

Chill or serve warm, with 2 tablespoons sauce spooned over each pear.

Orange or Strawberry Sauce: In a microwave-safe measuring cup or glass, microwave ½ cup orange marmalade or strawberry preserves on low power 20 seconds or until warm. Garnish with orange peel curls or fresh strawberries.

Chocolate Sauce: In small microwave-safe bowl, combine 2 tablespoons cocoa, 1 tablespoon sugar and ½ cup low-fat chocolate milk. Microwave on high power 1 minute. Stir in 1 tablespoon frozen orange juice concentrate and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Heat on high power 1 minute longer.

Fill 'Er Up

CURRIED APPLE-RICE PILAF

- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 tsp. butter or margarine
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 1 tsp. curry powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1½ cup water
- 1 sweet apple, like Fuji or golden delicious, cored, coarsely chopped
- 2 tsp. slivered almonds, toasted
- 2 tsp. chopped cilantro or parsley

Wise Ways

By LINDA BLUMENBERG

Babies should not put on ways of dieting parents

Some parents are unaware of fat's importance for young children. According to a Gerber Products Co. telephone survey of 1,076 adults, almost 20 percent said they reduce the amount of fat in their baby's diets.

Yet, according to Virginia Wilkening, a registered dietitian and consumer safety officer in the U.S. Food and Drug Administration Office of Food Labeling, case reports show limiting fat intakes in very young children can cause them to "fail to thrive."

"Babies need fat and cholesterol in their diets for proper growth and development," she says.

While Dietary Guidelines for Americans tell adults to keep fat to no more than 30 percent of total calories consumed in a day, health experts caution against restricting fat in young children's diets.

In fact, infants and toddlers need to get 40 to 50 percent of their calories from fat to grow and develop properly. For this reason, government officials have established special rules to govern the labeling of foods for young children.

Just as for other foods, the regulations require labels on foods for young children to include information about nutrients important to health: protein, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, as well as fat. This helps parents choose foods with the kinds and amounts of nutrients their children need.

Conversely, labels on foods for children under two are prohibited from showing information about some nutrients, so parents may assume wrongly they should be restricted in young children's diets.

dren's diets. This explains why baby food labels do not break down total fat into its components — saturated, polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fat — nor do they show cholesterol, calories from fat and calories from saturated fat. These nutrients should not be restricted for children under age two.

Instead of choosing baby foods based on fat content, look for foods that supply generous amounts of protein, vitamins A and C, calcium or iron. These nutrients will be given as Percent Daily Values, making it easy to see how a particular food fits into a child's total daily diet.

Reading labels also shows that:

- Plain meats provide more protein than mixed dinners.
- Plain fruits are a better buy and more nutritious than fruit desserts which have added sugar and starches.
- Plain baby cereals are a better buy than cereals with fruit added. A box of dry cereal is a better buy than baby cereals in jars.
- Products labeled "chicken and vegetables" have more meat than those called "vegetables with chicken."

Registered dietitian Nancy Schwartz, director of the American Dietetic Association's National Center for Nutrition and Dietetics, offers advice for parents helping their children choose foods. "A variety of foods — especially from the fruit, vegetable and grain groups, provides an array of vitamins and minerals needed by children, while encouraging them to develop healthy eating patterns after two years of age," she says.

Parents with special concerns about their children's diets can call the toll-free Consumer Nutrition Hot Line, (800) 366-1655, to talk with a registered dietitian. This is a service of the American Dietetic Association.

Certified home economist Linda Blumenberg is nutrition specialist for University Extension (University of Missouri system) in Montgomery County.

Private Label Test Run

A brand like Preferred Selection keeps cereal at a moderate price.

Shopper likes cereal without breaking budget

Cereal is a favorite morning and snack food, but its cost usually can take a big bite out of a budget.

Preferred Selection low-fat granola with extra fruit was tested recently by Suburban Journal tasters to see whether a box of $2.99 cereal could bring happiness to the breakfast crowd. It was bought at Dierbergs, although other local stores carry the brand, too. The premium private label brand is new to the St. Louis area.

The answer from tasters was a decisive "yes." "The granola was great," said a tester. "It was very tasty, very satisfying with the right touch of sweetness."

There were lovers of granola and non-lovers of granola among the tasters. One who does not like "hard" food was kind in her assessment, too.

"This granola comes in smaller chunks, so it is more manageable than most. It's less 'tooth-breaking' than most granola I've encountered," she said. Others compared it to varieties in pantries at home.

"I just bought a national brand very much like this and I paid $4.29 for it. Where do I buy this? This is really a bargain," one said.

Another agreed that a national brand she buys is not as easy to eat as the Preferred Selection brand.

The fruit generally received high marks. One called the fruit

"The granola was great. It was very tasty, very satisfying with the right touch of sweetness."

— Tester
From St. Louis

"fresh," another said the box had "plenty" of it, a third deemed the raisins "good, plump, flavorful."

One tester had a mixed reaction. She loved the granola, but — like other cereals that include dried fruit — found the raisins a little hard to her liking. Her overall score still was high.

"I love oatmeal and anything made with it, so this is very tasty to me. This is still good for a snack with or without milk. It also would be good (as a topper) with yogurt," she said.

Once the cereal was gone, there was a single statement left by a taster: "The milk that was left over was delicious."

A ½-cup serving of the cereal has 220 calories, 2.5 grams fat, 130 milligrams sodium and 4 grams fiber.

Cheeses hold tangy disposition

Lou Ann Card, Kirkwood, is the winner of this week's recipe contest for Crab Bites. She wins a prize of dinner certificates at the Pasta House Co.

There are many seafood appetizer recipes, but this one has extra zing from a combination of parmesan cheese and Swiss cheese with the mayonnaise and other seasonings. Card says the mixture can be mixed a day ahead, assembled the day of a party and broiled just before serving.

Recipes in the German Fest Recipe Contest will be accepted through Sept. 30 for consideration as winner each of the four Wednesdays in October.

Send one recipe per household to: German Fest Recipe Contest, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Name the Journal you receive. Be sure to double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions, including any variations that make this dish special.

If there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. Along with taste and eye appeal, it will be among criteria for selecting winners. Originality will be considered, although the recipe need not be original. If possible, name the source of the recipe.

CRAB BITES

- 1 pkg. (16 oz.) partially-baked French bread (2 loaves)
- ½ cup olive oil
- 3 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ½ tsp. sugar
- ¼ tsp. coarsely ground pepper
- ¼ cup grated parmesan cheese
- 2 cups torn romaine lettuce
- 1 to 1½ cups julienne-cut, fully-cooked ham (up to 8 oz.)
- ½ cup cherry tomatoes, halved
- ¼ cup julienne-cut carrot

- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ½ cup grated parmesan cheese
- ½ cup grated Swiss cheese
- ½ cup minced onion
- 3 dashes pepper sauce
- 3 dashes Worcestershire sauce
- 5 oz. surimi (imitation crab) seafood or salad-style shrimp (or combination), chopped
- Sandwich bread, crusts trimmed, cut in triangles (Pepperidge Farm suggested)
- Paprika

Combine mayonnaise, parmesan and Swiss cheese, onion, pepper sauce and Worcestershire sauce until blended. Carefully stir in seafood.

Toast bread on one side. Spread mixture on untoasted side of bread. Sprinkle on top just before broiling.

Preheat oven to 400°. Cut 2½-inch-wide "v" from top of each loaf, running length of bread. Remove "v" and cut in ½-inch cubes.

In small bowl, whisk together olive oil, mustard, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, garlic, sugar and pepper. Brush ½ tablespoons dressing on cut side of each "boat." Toss cubed bread with ¼ cup dressing and 1 tablespoon parmesan cheese.

Place "boats" and cubes in single layer on baking sheets. Bake in preheated oven 10 to 12 minutes until golden brown, stirring bread cubes frequently. Cool.

In large bowl, combine lettuce, ham, tomato, carrot and croutons. Add remaining dressing and parmesan cheese, tossing to coat well.

Place bread "boats" on large serving platter. Fill each with 2 cups salad. Spoon remaining salad around "boats." Cut each loaf in half. Serve immediately.

Heart-y Bites

By LIBBY MILLS

Playing health games can break person's heart

Lately I've been playing the odds with television cooking shows. I watch healthy-cooking shows, but never take notes, so it is hard to remember exactly how the food was made. With fingers crossed, I try to re-create the dish. Though occasionally disappointing, this recipe roulette is fairly harmless.

The same game should not be played with heart health. It is important to control saturated fat and cholesterol in the diet. This will help lower blood cholesterol levels. The lower the blood cholesterol, the less risk of developing heart disease.

Like my attempt to replicate every step in a televised recipe, it may be difficult to remember all the correct cholesterol information.

Take this quiz and see whether your cholesterol knowledge can stack the odds in your own healthful favor. Tune in each question with a "true" or "false" answer.

1. Cholesterol is only in meat, fish and poultry.
2. Food packages labeled "cholesterol-free" contain foods that are healthy and can be eaten any time.
3. Unsaturated fat — such as oil, salad dressing, nuts, mayonnaise and margarine — lowers blood cholesterol, so it can be eaten in unlimited quantities.
4. Fiber helps lower cholesterol.
5. Shrimp is high in cholesterol, therefore it should be avoided.

All the answers except No.

4 are false. Here is more information.

1. Cholesterol is in all animal products, including milk, cheese, butter and other dairy foods.

2. "Cholesterol-free" means the product contains less than 2 milligrams cholesterol and no more than 2 grams saturated fat per serving.

A well-balanced diet is the goal. Eat plenty of grains, fruits and vegetables. Use only low-fat meat and dairy products. Limit sweets.

3. Although unsaturated fats do help lower cholesterol, the American Heart Association recommends getting no more than five to eight servings per day.

4. Foods like oat bran, oatmeal, beans and lentils — eaten regularly — help lower blood cholesterol.

5. The amount of cholesterol in shrimp is similar to that in meat. However, it contains very little saturated fat, which is the primary factor in raising blood cholesterol levels.

If you lost your ante on the quiz, you can get more information from the American Heart Association at 45 HEART. This delicious salad recipe is from the American Heart Association "Quick and Easy Cookbook."

Registered dietitian Libby Mills is a staff member of the American Heart Association, St. Louis Chapter.

Next week's "I Love Eating" class is a double-dip. Registered dietitian Denise Barrett will stuff lunch bags full of easy, delectable ideas at 1 and 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Sept. 19, at St. Luke's Hospital, 232 S. Woods Mill Road. For information or reservations for the free event, call 45-HEART or toll-free (800) 255-9919.

CURRIED SHRIMP SALAD

- 2 tbsp. tarragon or white wine vinegar
- 1 tsp. low-sodium chicken broth
- 1 tsp. oil
- 1 tsp. honey
- 1 tsp. curry powder
- 5 cups torn leaf or romaine lettuce
- 12 oz. medium shrimp, cooked, shelled, deveined
- 1 medium zucchini or yellow summer squash, halved lengthwise and sliced crosswise
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup chopped, unsalted, dry-roasted peanuts

In small jar with tight-fitting lid, combine vinegar, broth, oil, honey and curry powder. Cover. Shake until ingredients are well combined. Set aside.

Combine lettuce, shrimp and zucchini. Shake dressing and pour over lettuce mixture. Toss to coat. Sprinkle each serving with raisins and peanuts.

Makes 4 main-dish (1 1/2-cup) servings; 228 calories, 9 g fat, 22 g protein, 17 g carbohydrate, 166 mg cholesterol and 202 mg sodium each.

Take mushrooms to grill for fantastic fall fare

Along with other vegetables, mushrooms have a place on the grill.

Grilled Mushroom and Garlic Salad is an earthy, yet elegant, dish that is an ideal foil for grilled steak, chicken, fish or just about anything else. Anyone "mad" for mushrooms and garlic could make this a marvelous main course over toasted Italian bread, rice or pasta.

To make it, start with fresh white mushrooms. All they require is a gentle wipe with a damp towel or quick rinse with cold water, and if dry at the stem end — a little trim. These go into a grill basket or onto skewers, along with blanched whole cloves of garlic. After only 3 minutes, when the veggies turn golden, toss with a mustard vinaigrette, fresh watercress and cherry tomatoes for a delicious creation.

Portabella mushrooms are huge. Their caps are as big as burgers. Use portabella's natural meaty texture to make just that.

Brush whole portabellas with a peppery lemon-olive oil mixture, then grill. When almost done, fill the mushrooms with nutty, pungent fontina cheese. Serve them on toasted buns with basil, sliced tomato and onion.

The Mushroom Council, in conjunction with America Online, is sponsoring a Cyberspace Mushroom Lovers Challenge. Recipes can be in any type of recipe category, but must include at least 8 ounces of fresh white mushrooms, or an 8-ounce combination of mushrooms — white mushrooms must be included — with any of the following: portabella, shiitake, crimini, oyster and enoki.

The contest offers three prizes of U.S. savings bonds valued at a total of $10,000.

at maturity. Recipes must be received either by e-mail or mail by Sept. 30.

For more information, tune in the Cooking Club on America Online (keyword: Cooking), e-mail to LAN-SHROOMS@AOL.COM, or send name and address to Mushroom Lovers Challenge, 49 East 21st St., New York, N.Y. 10010.

mushrooms and garlic, watercress and tomato. Toss to coat. Serve immediately. Yields four (1-cup) servings.

GRILLED PORTABELLA CHEESE BURGER

- 3 tbsp. lemon juice
- 2 tbsp. olive oil
- 1 tsp. minced garlic
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 3/4 cup, coarsely ground pepper
- 4 portabella mushroom caps (about 12 oz.), stems removed
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded fontina cheese
- 1/2 tsp. leaf oregano, crushed
- 4 crusty rolls, split
- 1 tsp. chopped fresh or 1 tsp. dried basil
- Sliced tomato and red onion, if desired

In small bowl, whisk together lemon juice, olive oil, garlic, salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Brush both sides of each mushroom with lemon juice mixture, using all the dressing.

Place mushrooms round-side up on grill or broiler pan rack. Cook 3 minutes. Turn mushrooms stem-side up. Sprinkle with cheese, oregano and remaining 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Cook about 3 minutes longer until mushrooms are tender and cheese is melted.

To serve, place each mushroom into a roll and sprinkle with basil. Top with tomato and onion. Serve immediately.

Yields 4 servings.

GRILLED MUSHROOM AND GARLIC SALAD

- 1 head garlic
- 1 lb. fresh white mushrooms, halved (about 6 cups)
- 3 tbsp. olive oil
- 1 tsp. red wine vinegar
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup watercress leaves, arugula or spinach
- 1 cup halved cherry tomatoes or 1 cup diced tomato

Separate garlic into cloves. Cut large cloves in half. Peel.

Fill small saucepan with 3 inches water. Bring to boil. Cook garlic about 5 minutes until tender. Drain.

In large bowl, toss mushrooms and garlic with 2 tablespoons olive oil.

To grill, place mushrooms and garlic in grill basket or on skewers; to broil place on broiler pan rack. Grill or broil as close to heat as possible, turning occasionally, 3 to 4 minutes until mushrooms are tender and golden.

In large bowl, combine remaining 1 tablespoon olive oil, vinegar, mustard, salt and black pepper. Add

CUSTOM FINANCE

A credit mistake
shouldn't prevent you
from buying a car.

At one time or another, most people experience credit problems. But why should you be denied the ability to buy a car if you can afford to make the payments? We think that's wrong!! As one of St. Louis volume auto dealers, Chris Auffenberg helps people like you everyday. Our Custom Finance Managers are sensitive to credit problems and will search for every available financing source to help you buy a new (or used) car or truck.

Call Lou or George at 314-909-0432, now!
